Research interests

Timo Koivurova has a multidisciplinary specialisation in Arctic law and government but has also conducted broader research on global law (including authoring an English-language text book on international environmental law). Some of his research areas include:

The legal status of the indigenous peoples of the Arctic (e.g. the Sámi)

Regulations and politics regarding climate change in general and in the Arctic

Regulating mining industry practices

Arctic immigration

The laws and politics surrounding the opening of the Arctic Ocean

The continued development of the Arctic Council as an intergovernmental forum

Rapidly-changing geopolitical trends in the Arctic, both from a broader geopolitical perspective and also with a special focus on China's role in the region

Possibilities for an Arctic treaty.

He has been involved as an expert in several international processes globally and in the Arctic region and has published on the above-mentioned topics extensively.
